TOO MANY BASES ON BALLS

Both Shreve and Fee Were Unable to Get the Ball Over the Plate.

The Hoosiers Pounded Clarkson at Will, but Could Not Overcome the Lead Taken by Boston in the First Inning.

COULDN'T SPLIT THE PLATE.

The Wildness of the Pitchers and McQuaid's Bad Judgment Gives Boston a Game.

Umpire McQuaid, through very damaging errors of judgment on balls and strikes, gave Boston five runs and the second game of the series at the League grounds yesterday afternoon. Mr. McQuaid has done very good work here, as a rule, and, without doubt, means to do the square thing at all times, but this does not alter the fact that through his errors of judgment the Hoosiers were given the worst of it yesterday, especially in the opening inning. Richardson and Nash were both clearly struck out but he sent to them to first on balls, and, as a result, the visitors scored five runs when they should not have had one. Thus the Boston men gained a lead that finally gave them the game. It is true that the visitors made ten additional runs, but it is also true that the lead given them in the first inning had a very discouraging effect, and as the umpire was very severe on both Shreve and Fee, giving them nothing that did not split the plate, the Hoosiers had to fight against big odds from the start. The local men batted as well, stole more bases and made a less number of errors than the visitors, but still lost. The defeat is traceable to the bases on balls, nine of the Boston men reaching first in that way, all of whom scored. Shreve pitched for three innings, and was hit for two singles and three doubles, and sent five men to first, though he should not have been charged with but three. Fee went into the box in the fourth, and held the visitors down until the seventh, they bunched four hits, which, base on balls, cost three During the five innings he was in the box he gave four bases and was hit safely nine times. Barring the seventh, however, the hits were well scattered, and aside from his wildness the young man did very well. The Boston men were lucky in making their hits, and they all came in just at the right time. On the other hand Clarkson, who has pitched his third successive game, was very effective at critical points, and, though he was hit hard, he kept the hits scattered in such a manner that the Hoosiers could not get the full benefit of their stick-work. There was nothing particularly brilliant in the playing of either side, as will be seen by the error columns. The local men were blanked in the first inning, Richardson was sent to his base on balls when he should blanked in the first inning, Richardson was sent to his base on balls when he should have been called out, Kelly hit for two bases. Nash should have been called out, but was given first. Brouthers made a two-base hit; Johnston struck at the air three times, and took his seat. Quinn reached second in a futile effort to run Brouthers down, and Smith hit for a single. Bennett did the same, and Quinn scored, making the fifth man to cross the plate after the side should have been out. Two bases on balls and Brouthers's double scored two in the second. The Hoosiers had previously made three runs in the second on a base on balls, a The Hoosiers had previously made three runs in the second on a base on balls, a steal, two singles, another steal and a hit by Seery. Three more were made in the fourth on a combination of hits, steals and errors, and another was added in the fifth on Sommers's three-bagger and Hines's single. The last run was made in the ninth on Giasscock's hit, two steals and a sacrifice. In the seventh the visitors made three on a base on balls and singles by Richardson, Kelly, Nash, Brouthers and Johnston, and another was added in the eighth on a base on balls and Richardson's two bagger. The last game of the series will be played this afternoon. Rusie will probably pitch for the home team. Score:

Financial Affairs of the White Institute-Southeast Indiana Methodists-Bishop Joyce's Sensible Address.

Special to the Indianapolis Journal

RICHMOND, Ind., Sept. 27 .- At the Indiana Yearly Meeting of Orthodox Friends the financial statement of White's Manual Labor Institute up to Sept. 12, 1889, was as follows: Total assets, $12,291.95; total liabilities, $6,341.15; available, means, $4,718.82; indebtedness not convenient to pay, $1,622.31. The conditions of James Moorman's $45,000 bequest were accepted and Friends appointed to name a committee to assist the trustees in the management thereof. The temperance committee reported forty-one members using intoxicating drinks; thirty-eight sell tobacco; thirteen raise it and the members using it expend $16,350 for it yearly. Profiting by last year's experience politics were debarred in the discussion of the report. The report of the home mission committee showed 2,000 meetings held, 3,126 families visited, 184 conversions made by 600 workers, at an expense of $1,560 during the year. In this connection a history was given of the Flower Mission and the Young People's Society of Christian Endeavor. ciety of Christian Endeavor.

Southeast Indiana Methodists. Special to the Indianapolis Journal.

Madison, Ind., Sept. 27 .- At 8:30 A. M. devotional exercises were conducted by Prof. Doddridge. Bishop Joyce resumed the chair at 9 A. M. J. C. White was transferred to the North Indiana Conference. Brother Pearson, presiding elder of the Cincinnati district, and Dr. Comegys, a layman of St. Paul's Church, that city, were introduced. J. D. T. Lathrop and L. N. Jones were excused from serving on the temperance committee, and Monroe Vayhinger and Dr. J. H. Ford were elected to supply the vacancies.

G. W. Gelvin, J. H. Beckford, Leora Kennedy, A. A. Jones, James Gillispie and Henry J. Black, of the first-year class, and candidates for ordination in the second year were called forward, and most imyear were called forward, and most impressively and instructively addressed by the Bishop. The main points enjoined upon the candidates were: First, to know that they are not merely reformed but converted men; second, to be sure to be studious men, learning to think, act and speak for the truth, being ready always and everywhere to give a reason for the hope that is within them. A sermon, to be effective, must be one that moves the preacher and the people as well. "Be natural, be yourself, ape no one," said the Bishop. "Every time you preach aim to move and capture some one. Stand up Bishop. "Every time you preach aim to move and capture some one. Stand up and preach Christ with an open Bible and the leading of the Holy Spirit and you are safe. Keep your bead level and your heart full, and you will win every time. Preach holiness, but don't preach the patent kind. Let it be a luxury to feed your hungry soul. The Methodist minister who does not spend his afternoons with his members is a failure. The hearer who applauds a minister's 'perfectly lovely' sermon may walk right out to damnation. He who merely preaches grandly comes to the end of his preaches grandly comes to the end of his year empty-handed."

Upon the question of where shall the next conference be held, Shelbyville, Columbus, Rushville, Greensburg and Franklin were placed in nomination. It was decided by a large majority to meet at Franklin.

Revs. S. A. Moffett, Presbyterian; Sidney
Tinker, of the Holstein Conference, and C. E. Ploch, of the Central German Conference, were introduced. Doctors Pearson and Comegys gave splendid addresses on the work of the Deaconesses' Home and Hos-

The Colored Man's Status in the Church. NEW YORK, Sept. 27 .- The following memorial was framed at to-day's session of the colored Episcopalians, to be presented at the General Conference of the United States next week:

We would respectfully, yet most earnestly, represent to your honorable body that we, the clergy and laity engaged in the work of the church among colored people, have been trained in the Protestant Episcopal Church, or have entered that communion with the understanding:

First—That it was a valid branch of God of the Holy Church, bringing to us all the verities of Christ's religion and animated by His spirit.

Second—That the church knows no differences of race or of condition.

Third—That it is the doctrine of this church that its priesthood is one that it is not her intention to discriminate in her legislative capacity upon the sole ground of color.

Fourth—That action has been taken in some parts of the church which has either already deprived, or will deprive, the colored people of rights which we supposed they possess by virtue of the apostolic ordinance, by instituting a movement looking to a separate organization of colored people. In consequence, we feel the ment looking to a separate organization of col-ored people. In consequence, we feel that the confidence of many among us, and among colored people generally, has been greatly shaken re-specting the reality of the church's catholicity, and of her profession of interest in the spiritual welfare of the colored people.

In view of the foregoing facts, we ask what is the position of colored men in the church! Is it in accord with the race doctrines taught by the church that when men have been admitted into the sacred ministry of by the church that when men have been admitted into the sacred ministry of communion of the church a new restriction with scrofula, was cured by this medicine.

should be made in the spiritual and religious rights of the colored man which should not be made in those of a white man? We ask the General Conference to give us an emphatic, unequivocal answer to this, our earnest and almost despairing inquiry.

ALL MEN ARE NOT EQUAL.

Sensational Utterances of a Minister at the Brotherhood of St. Andrew Meeting.

CLEVELAND, Sept. 27 .- The fourth annual convention of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew began here vesterday, with about 250 delegates present. Wm. C. Sturgis, of Boston, was elected temporary chairman, and D. W. Roberts, of St. Louis, temporary secretary. The examination of credentials and appointment of committees employed the remainder of the session. At the general conference in the afternoon Rev. H. N. Cunningham, of Watertown, Conn., delivered the introductory address. C. Sturgis, of Boston; Henry A. Sill, of New York; Rev. Dr. Bates, of Cleveland; W. R. Sterling, of Chicago; John M. Locke, of Chicago, and Wm. Aikman, jr., of Detroit, delivered addresses on special topics.

There was a sensation to-day when Guy A. Hogg, of Chicago, corresponding secretary of the association, in an address denounced theaters, dances and eard parties. He was loudly cheered, and it was evident that the sympathy of all was with him.

In the morning Rev. J. D. S. Huntington, of New York, asked the convention what was meant when wage-workers were spoken of? He thought the term workingman was often misapplied. Discussion followed, and Dr. Hallan, of St. Louis, increased it. Said he: "All men are not equal; we are not born equal, and we never can be equal. The idea that God created man equal grew out of the superstition and the ignorance of an age that has passed away. It is God's law that some men shall be greater than others, and all the anarchy and the communism and the atheism of the world cannot change it. Herein this country we are ruled by a government that upholds this doctrine of equality, and our politicians and rulers are afraid to speak the truth, because the lower order of society has a vote. I pray heaven that the clergyman may not also be ruled by this fear of votes." Dr. Holland's remarks caused a sensation.
